
From: Bill Taylor <bataylor@pa.net>
Sent: Tuesday, January 08, 2019 8:13 AM
To: A-AND-R-DOCKET
Subject: Outdoor boilers

I'm not an expert on determining the amount of pollution put into the air by wood stoves but if you look at the California wild fires, I'm sure they put billions more pollutants in the air than all the wood stoves in the US. So start by stopping the wild fire!!!

Next wood is a renewable resource, used for many applications, including heating homes.

I will continue heating with wood until I can no longer harvest the fire wood!

Maybe California needs to heat with wood, #clean the forest!!

Sent from my iPhone